The meeting is Tuesday, July 10th from 7:00 - 9:00 pm (with optional 6:30 pm start for refreshments and informal networking). The meeting will be held at The National Center for Atmospheric Research (NCAR) at 1850 Table Mesa Drive in Boulder. To get to NCAR from the Boulder Turnpike (US 36) or Broadway (US 93), take Table Mesa Drive west towards the mountains for approximately 2.5 miles into the foothills. NCAR is at the top of the hill. For door-to-door driving directions, go to MapQuest (<http://www.mapquest.com/>), click on Driving Directions, enter your starting address, NCAR's address, and voila! Park in the NCAR lot, go in the main door, and ask the guard to point you to meeting, which is held in the main auditorium, right off the lobby. The meeting is free and open to the public, but we may pass the hat to help defray expenses.

Our meeting location seats about 120 people. That is usually enough room to accommodate all attendees, but it's impossible for us to predict how many people will show up for any given meeting. Seating is always on a first-come, first serve basis, and in the event of more attendees than seats, we won't be able to admit additional people into the auditorium after all seats are filled.

I plan to be there, and I would think any affiliate marketer in Colorado would be interested as well. I've been a member of the RMIUG for awhile, but this is the first presentation I've seen on affiliate marketing. It's a nice combination since we have a guy from one of the major affiliate marketing providers as well as a user (I assume super user) of affiliate programs and can give us more insight into how to do this whole thing. I have a feeling this event will be well attended, so I plan on getting there early. If anyone wants to join me, please let me know.
